PSEG REWARDS TRENTON'S JA HIGH SCHOOL HEROES & BIG BROTHERS BIG SISTERS

Trenton, NJ – PSEG has partnered with Junior Achievement of New Jersey (JANJ) and Big Brothers Big Sisters of Mercer County to reward stellar students who have exhibited exemplary leadership in their communities with an opportunity to enjoy the Trenton Devils game against the Toledo Walleye Wednesday March 10th at the Sun National Bank Center. The students received this recognition and networking opportunity courtesy of Frank Lucchesi, Regional Public Affairs Manager of PSEG and member of JANJ's Central District Board of Directors and Andrew Sklarz, Corporate Sales Director of Sun National Bank Center. Following the game, the student leaders enjoyed a free skate per the generous skate rental donation by the Mercer County Administration.

"Our focus at PSEG is to support organizations that promote education and workforce development in underserved areas, so our partnership with Big Brothers Big Sisters of Mercer and JANJ represents our dedication to meeting the needs of the whole child and investing in their future," said Lucchesi. He added, "One of the best ways to encourage more students from those areas to continue setting high standards of academic achievement and volunteer service is to recognize and reward those who are doing just that."

JANJ's Trenton High School Heroes have volunteered at local elementary schools during school hours and at Boys and Girls Club of Trenton's Super Saturday program. During their sessions, these young role models co-facilitated JA's hands-on, financial literacy-based games and activities while sharing personal stories from their own childhood, their educational backgrounds, key character traits, and their future career goals.

Big Brothers Big Sisters of Mercer County volunteers have been helping children reach their potential through professionally supported, one-to-one relationships with mentors. Each mentor helps broaden the horizons of their Little Brothers or Little Sisters by doing activities of shared interest, tutoring, or sports on average of 2-3 times a month. Big Brothers Big Sisters of Mercer County's mentoring is proven to develop the attitudes and behaviors youth need to stay in school, succeed academically, make healthy choices, and create promising futures.

PSEG, JANJ, and Big Brothers Big Sisters of Mercer County are proud to come together and congratulate the participants as they continue being positive role models who inspire further community involvement.

About PSEG
